

Jennifer L. Ford

Associate

jford@goodwinprocter.com

Boston | 617.570.1087

Ms. Ford is an associate in the firm's Litigation Department, where she focuses on patent litigation. She also advises clients on various issues related to privacy, data security, and records management. Ms. Ford joined the firm in 2011.

Work For Clients

Representative matters include:

- Fresenius Kabi USA LLC v. Dr. Reddy's Labs. Ltd et al. (D. Del.). Represents Fresenius in patent infringement litigation relating to generic forms of the sedative propofol (Diprivan®).
- Teva Neuroscience, Inc., et al. v. Apotex Corp., et al. (D.N.J.). Represented Teva in patent infringement actions filed under the Hatch-Waxman Act against several defendants seeking approval to market a generic version of Teva's drug Azilect®.
- Certain Light-Emitting Diodes and Products Containing the Same, ITC Inv. Nos. 337-TA-784 and 337-TA-802. Represented OSRAM in asserting patents involving LED light conversion and packaging technology and defending infringement claims on patents dealing with LED manufacturing and processing.

Professional Experience

Ms. Ford is a member of the Boston Bar Association, the Boston Patent Law Association, and the International Association of Privacy Professionals.

Thought Leadership

Ms. Ford is a co-author of "The Private and Social Costs of Patent Trolls," which appeared in Regulation (Vol. 34, No. 4, Winter 2011-2012).

Practices

Patent Litigation

ITC 337 Proceedings

Education

J.D., 2011

Boston University School of Law
(Intellectual Property Concentration, with honors)

B.S., 2008

Massachusetts Institute of Technology

Admissions

Bar

Massachusetts

Courts

U.S. District Court for the District of Massachusetts
